A long time ago Santa Claus met his elves. They offered to help make his dream a reality of bringing gifts and toys to children throughout the world. Now the stories of these remarkable helpers are finally told through this series that helps young readers learn to read.

This series will entertain your child with the wonders of Santa's World while teaching them to read through rhyme and colorful, fun illustrations. Each book will include a special message from Santa Claus. One of the most important traditions is the beautiful wrapping of your Christmas present before Santa places it under the tree. The elf in charge of making your present perfect is Shelley Wrapitup, our Master Design Elf, and this is her story.

The Santa's Elf Series® will feature numerous elves and their responsibilities, with new elves and books coming out each year. A series of matching elf dolls and accessories will also soon accompany the books. This series will bring the magic of Christmas to your home throughout the year while it helps your child learn to read and nurture their imagination. Begin a tradition and add Jamie to your collection of treasured memories.
